Privacy Notice for BASES Employees

December 2021

"Promoting excellence in sport and exercise sciences"

Introduction

We are committed to respecting your privacy. This notice is to explain how we may use personal information we collect before, during and after your working relationship with us. This notice explains how we comply with the law on data protection and what your rights are and for the purposes of data protection we will be the controller of any of your personal information.

This notice applies to our current and former employees, workers, directors, and consultants. This notice does not form part of any contract of employment or other contract to provide services.

References to we, our or us in this privacy notice are references to the British Association of Sport and Exercise Sciences (BASES).

We have appointed a Data Protection Officer (DPO) to oversee our compliance with data protection laws, however, the BASES Board of Directors has overall responsibility for data protection compliance in our organisation.

Personal information we may collect from you

When you interact with us in relation to your work with us, you may provide us with or we may obtain personal information about you, such as information regarding your:

- personal contact details such as name, title, addresses, telephone numbers, and personal email addresses and emergency contact details;

- health
- sexual orientation

BASES may undertake surveys to determine whether our equity, diversity and inclusion policies are fair and effective; to understand our member demographic and to determine whether any actions need to be undertaken to rectify any issues with representation and/or member opportunities. We do this by analysing the information that is provided to us in an anonymous, de-personalised and aggregated format. This information is collected during membership registration and membership renewal. All special categories of personal sensitive information are subject to enhanced protection and safeguarding, including controlling who can access it, encryption, and physical security measures.

Where we collect your information

We typically collect personal information about employees, workers, directors and consultants through the application and recruitment process, either directly from candidates or sometimes from an employment agency or background check provider. We may sometimes collect additional information from third parties including former employers, credit reference agencies or other background check agencies. We will also collect additional personal information in the course of job-related activities throughout the period of you working for us.

If you are providing us with details of referees, next of kin, beneficiaries, family members and emergency contacts they have a right to know and to be aware of how what personal information we hold about them, how we collect it and how we use and may share that information. Please share this privacy notice with those of them whom you feel are sufficiently mature to understand it. They also have the same rights as set out in the "Your rights in relation to personal information" section below.

For other personal information you may not be under an obligation to provide it to us, but if you do not provide it then we may not be able to properly perform our contract with you.

Where you have given us your consent to use your personal information in a particular manner, you have the right to withdraw this consent at any time, which you may do by contacting us as described in the "Contacting us" section below.

Please note however that the withdrawal of your consent will not affect any use of the data made before you withdrew your consent, and we may still be entitled to hold and process the relevant personal information to the extent that we are entitled to do so on bases other than your consent. Withdrawing consent may also have the same effects as not providing the information in the first place, for example we may no longer be able to provide certain benefits to you.

Disclosure of your personal information

We share personal information with the following parties:

- Any party approved by you.
- Other service providers to our business: for example, payroll, pension administration, benefits provision, professional advisors and administration, CCTV contractors and IT services. All our third-party service providers and other entities in the group are required to take appropriate security measures to protect your personal information.
- Purchasers of our business: buyers or perspective buyers who we sell or negotiate to sell our business to.
- Prospective new employers: for the provision of references for you;
- The Government or our regulators: where we are required to do so by law or to assist with their investigations or initiatives for the financial services industry, including but not limited to the [Financial Conduct Authority and Prudential Regulation Authority.]
- Police, law enforcement and security services: to assist with the investigation and prevention of crime and the protection of national security.

We do not disclose personal information to anyone else except as set out above.

How long do we keep personal information for?

The duration for which we retain your personal information will differ depending on the type of information and the reason why we collected it from you. However, in some cases personal information may be retained on a long-term basis: for example, personal information that we need to retain for legal purposes will normally be retained in accordance with commercial practice and regulatory requirements. Generally, where there is no legal requirement, we retain all physical and electronic records for a period of 6 years after your last contact with us.

The British Association of Sport and Exercise Sciences

Exceptions to this rule are:

- Details regarding unsuccessful job applicants where we hold records for a period of not more than 12 months;
- Information that may be useful to a pension provider or benefit provider which we may retain for the period that your pension or benefit is payable.
- Information that may be relevant to personal injury claims, or discrimination claims may be retained until the limitation period for those types of claims has expired. For personal injury or discrimination claims this can be an extended period as the limitation period might not start to run until a long time after you have worked for us.

It is important to ensure that the personal information we hold about you is accurate and up-to-date, and you should let us know if anything changes, for example if you change your phone number or email address.

Your rights in relation to personal information

You have the following rights in relation to your personal information:

- the right to be informed about how your personal information is being used;
- the right to access the personal information we hold about you;
- the right to request the correction of inaccurate personal information we hold about you;
- the right to request the erasure of your personal information in certain limited circumstances;
- the right to restrict processing of your personal information where certain requirements are met;
- the right to object to the processing of your personal information;
- the right to request that we transfer elements of your data either to you or another service provider; and
- the right to object to certain automated decision-making processes using your personal information.

You should note that some of these rights, for example the right to require us to transfer your data to another service provider or the right to object to automated decision making, may not apply as they have specific requirements and exemptions which apply to them, and they may not apply to personal information recorded and stored by us. For example, we do not use automated decision making in relation to your personal data. However, some have no conditions attached, so your right to withdraw consent or object to processing for direct marketing are absolute rights.

Whilst this privacy notice sets out a general summary of your legal rights in respect of personal information, this is a very complex area of law. More information about your legal rights can be found on the Information Commissioner's website at <https://ico.org.uk/for-the-public/>.

To exercise any of the above rights, or if you have any questions relating to your rights, please contact us by using the details set out in the "Contacting us" section below.

If you are unhappy with the way we are using your personal information, you can also complain to the UK Information Commissioner's Office or your local data protection regulator. We are here to help and encourage you to contact us to resolve your complaint first.
